We are increasingly in a vital position as a region to grow the support for our ministries and leaders. Husband Matthew and I pioneered a ministry when we graduated in 1988 from what was called: Unity School for Ministerial and Religious Studies. I mention this because the language we used still at that time was that of Fillmore leadership. We were pioneers in the field. Unity School still had a Field Department, though mostly dedicated to international growth and support in the 80's.

To this day my attitude has been that we are pioneering in the Unity field. We are planting ministries. We are weeding our consciousness about what it means to minister. We are open, receptive, fertile minds for new ideas. Now is our time to become more active as those new ideas emerge. I have confirmed that Jim Blake will attend our regional conference Sept 22-24 in Moline. Let me know your hopes/interests/ideas for the types of conversations and experiences you most want at this pivotal time in Unity, and in our region.

With love, Kathy
